Welcome to 'In Touch'

The magazine of Cheltenham United Reformed Church, a joint pastorate of the three United Reformed Churches in Cheltenham. The three churches work very closely together, sharing this magazine, the website and all activities.

St Andrew's United Reformed Church is in the Montpellier district of Cheltenham town centre. A former Presbyterian church founded in 1885, it became United Reformed on unification in 1972. St Andrew's offers impressive facilities, meeting the needs of 21st century Cheltenham.

Prestbury United Reformed Church is in the heart of Prestbury village on the northern edge of Cheltenham. A former Congregational chapel built in 1866, becoming United Reformed on unification in 1972.

The Church in Warden Hill is a Local Ecumenical Partnership (LEP) between the Anglican (St Christopher's) and URC communities of Up Hatherley and Warden Hill in the south of Cheltenham. Ministry is shared between the URC and Rev Gary Grady of the Anglican South Cheltenham Team Ministry.

Both the Anglican and URC buildings are regularly used for worship.

For other information about the Church in Warden Hill please see 'The Lantern' or visit www.tciwh.org.uk

Dear Friends

I hope you like sport, with the world cup football starting this week and going on for over a month. If you're an England fan, I don't suppose it will last for as long as that! Then as soon as the football finishes, Wimbledon starts. At the same time, the tour de France cycling is held, then later this year there is cricket, Formula 1, Rugby and the European Athletics Championships. Phew!

Actually, sport features quite often in the writings of Paul, the apostle. At that time there were four major Greek-style games: as well as the Olympic games at Olympia, there was the Pythian games at Delphi, the Nemean games at Argos (no, not the shop!) and the Isthmian games near Corinth.

The Isthmian Games were held at Corinth every two years, and as Paul was there in 50 and 51AD, he would have seen the excitement in the city. Competitions were held in: running, chariot racing, horse racing, javelin, boxing, wrestling, discus throwing and shot putting.

The prize in these games was a so called "corruptible crown": so, at Olympia it was a crown of olive leaves. at the Isthmian Games, a crown of pine leaves. at Delphi a crown of laurel leaves and at Nemea a crown of parsley leaves.

Paul makes reference to this more than once. For example, he says; "They do it to get a crown that will not last; but we do it to get a crown that will last for ever." (1 Cor 9:25) And towards the end of his life, he writes; "The time has come for my departure. I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on that day—and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing." (2 Tim 4:7).

.....Cont.

Perhaps life can appear like a race sometimes, at times it's a breeze, at others it may seem like an uphill struggle. But Paul's overriding theme is one of perseverance, of seeing it through with a determination which will be rewarded at the end. Because we don't run the race on our own, we are a fellowship, a family, and when someone falls, a collection of hands reaches out to pull them up and help them back on track. And when all is said and done, we're all winners, because Christ has run the race before us and won the victory for us.

THE NATIONAL STAR COLLEGE

The college came into being in 1967 as the Star Centre at Ullenwood, with 10 students and 26 staff. By 1972 it had become the National Star Centre and came under the wing of the Department of Education. That same year the first permanent residential accommodation was built. By 2017 residences had been established in Cheltenham, Gloucester and Malvern, and educational centres had been set up in Mamhilad in Wales and in Hereford.

The National Star College is a College of Further Education providing residential accommodation for up to 88 students with physical disabilities, brain injuries, and learning, behavioural and medical difficulties. There are full-time, part-time and residential courses, which can be up to 3 years in duration. Courses are individually designed to suit each student's personal needs, and expert and specialist tuition is available to cater for all conditions. The personal development programmes are designed to improve communications and social skills, allow students to gain experience of working life in the real world and, wherever possible, to move back into independent living.

After students have left the college it provides longer term assistance with physical and occupational difficulties. The facilities at the Ullenwood campus include a sports hall, theatre and dance studio, swimming pool, media and arts studio, and the entire college is equipped with an extensive range of up-to-date technologies and equipment. Some of these are available for public use.

Externally activities include the Star Bistro in Royal Crescent, StarPrint and the college shop.

More information is available on the college's website www.nationalstar.org, by phone on 01242 527631, or simply by visiting the college.

What the Romans really did for us

At St. Andrew's we have the Tuesday Forum and we all know what goes on there, but what did the ancient Romans do at the Forum, that is when they weren't conquering, pillaging and raping and indulging in other assorted nastiness? Well, my old Latin master, devotee of all that "amo, amas, amat" stuff, told us the Forum was a sort of market place where everything happened, except of course for all that conquering and pillaging and so on. At that time the mysteries of both history and ancient Rome were pretty baffling to us, and our understanding was somewhat basic. So we saw the forum as a sort of outdoor shopping centre, an al fresco Tesco, where you bought and sold stuff, got the local chit chat, perhaps listened to a wailing Greek minstrel or a scream-and-thump Ethiopian pop group.

Here's a thought. I knew the Romans had invented viaducts and catapults and chamber-pots and lettuce, but it hadn't occurred to me that they'd also invented Tesco's. Ok, it could have been Asda or Waitrose, but you get my drift. A couple of millennia have passed and it's the same stuff isn't it, just gone indoors? An even older Latin master (yes, I know, lot of them about now) said the forum became the centre for almost anything of note; public meetings (invention of police brutality?); political debates (invention of verbal abuse?); gladiator fights (invention of nightclubs?); spectator sports (invention of football hooliganism?). And let's not forget the odd assassination or two. So it was a lively place, the Forum, well, more deadly than lively of course if you were assassinated.

So, 2000 years later how does the URC Tuesday Forum compare? Well, it's not a bit like Tesco as there's no buying or selling. There's no fighting or verbal abuse, no brutality, no pop stars howling in what definitely still sounds like Ethiopian. I've not heard of any assassinations, but I'll check back on the minutes just to be on the safe side and I'm not aware any are planned.

On the other hand there is always something different to learn about or take part in. Just in the last few years we have heard some glorious music, joined in some ballad singing, marvelled at some wonderful paintings, laughed at some strange tales, handled some valuable precious eggs, rung some bells, tried to identify some obsolete Victorian antiques, and eaten several tons of biscuits and cream teas.

Footslogging to Duntisbourne Abbots Monday 18th June 2018

Seventeen of us met at the end of the lane opposite Winstone Church one sunny Monday morning in June. We spent some time enjoying the peace and simple beauty of St Barnabas Church, one of five in the area with no east window but with the typical 'saddleback' roof arrangement. We marvelled at the report of John Longdon, who served there as Rector for 68 years.

Then we set off. The weather was perfect for walking – warm, dry and not too windy. We crossed an odd-shaped meadow and followed the valley all the way to Duntisbourne Abbots. There was no-one else to be seen on this quiet rural footpath and we were definitely in the heart of Cotswold country.

At St Peters Church we admired lovely flower arrangements and the general tidiness, including well trimmed yew trees. Then it was back up a quiet bridleway until our 'banana break' in the sun, near to a barn in the process of being converted to an expensive house. We left the bridleway after a very democratic vote in favour of sticking to quiet fields rather than going back via civilisation!

We drove back to the Golden Heart pub in Nettleton Bottom, where we enjoyed a hearty lunch, made all the more enjoyable as Tim and Dorothy were able to join us once again.

Do come and join us in July when Jenny and Dai Evans will be leading the walk.

RETIRED MINISTER'S HOUSING

General Assembly has firmly endorsed the principle that ministers who have served the church should have a relaxed and comfortable retirement. In some circumstances it is not possible for ministers to rent or purchase a suitable property, so, in 1979 a fund was established.

The Retired Minister's Housing Fund, to "provide housing for retired ministers and ministers' widows who could not otherwise be adequately housed."

Churches were encouraged to support the fund, and have been doing so since its foundation. Although initially designed to be funded by donations from churches, it was also to be partly self-funding once it was in operation. The fund is administered by the URC Retired Ministers Housing Society Ltd.

Where there is a need the fund can provide assistance with the purchase or renting of suitable accommodation, taking account of individual circumstances and locations. Under the scheme provision is made for the continuation of accommodation for the widow, widower or registered civil partner of a minister who dies while a tenant of a fund-sponsored property. We in St Andrew's have regularly supported the fund over the years.

Please give generously.

Tony Jeans successfully rehomed some lever arch files and A4 ring binders having discovered that the Animal Sanctuary in Gardener's Lane has a second hand store, (not a gift shop) which was happy to take them.

The drive to tackle plastic pollution continues. In June, the BBC website reported that fifty nations are now taking action to reduce plastic pollution, according to the biggest report so far from the UN. If you watch Gardener's World, you will have seen Monty Don's attempts to reduce plastic in the garden. Morrisons will no longer sell single use plastic bags.

“The clappers certainly hit the sweet spot in Reg Hillier’s bell ringing demonstration. We saw with delight the only musical instrument of its type in the world, built and played by Reg with the help of his friends- local bell ringers. What a consuming hobby this was shown to be. I wouldn’t be surprised if some new recruits didn’t result from a fascinating presentation. There was a queue to have a go at a unique experience. Thank you Reg for your humour and expertise.

13th June

This week the usually well received tea and biscuits were replaced by a delicious cream tea with optional strawberries. We are not stay at home oldies! We are ready to explore our hinterland and journey by comfortable coach to places of interest. (You will be invited to sing tastefully if you are happy on the journey home - flashback to Sunday School and Choir outings!). We were being entertained royally at Aunt Martha’s Victorian Tea Rooms in the Forest f Dean. What an original venue with attractive decor from Queen Victoria’s reign. I especially liked the mounted silhouettes. The scones or scones were warm - straight from the oven, the cream and homemade jam generous and strawberries as sweet as our aptly costumed hostess. In all we enjoyed and much appreciated our afternoon out.

We continue to expand the experience our Wednesday afternoons provide next is a visit to Clevedon in the Autumn.

Come and join the Group, especially if you live near Warden Hill, for fun and friendship in 2018 and beyond. Don't be shy, a warm welcome awaits you.

From Cheltenham Food Bank

Harvest Festival 2018

As a supporter of Cheltenham Foodbank, we would like to thank your church for all donations of food and/or money previously provided. As the end of this school year approaches we are already thinking about events coming up next autumn – namely, Harvest Festival. Therefore, we are getting in touch to see if you would consider donating food to this year’s harvest appeal.

Last year, the harvest appeal brought in over three tonnes of much needed food, helping Cheltenham foodbank to provide emergency food for local people in crisis. In the last financial year (04/17 – 04/18) we helped 1,598 adults and 1,127 children. As this shows, the demands on the foodbank are stronger than ever and so we need your help. Could your church donate this year?

We look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully

From The Editor

Dear Friends

This year the URC's General Assembly will be held in Nottingham from 6th to 9th July. This event happens every two years and is the central decision making body for the church. Each Synod nominates delegates from across the area, both ministerial and lay, who are allowed to attend twice. In 2016 Rev Maz Allen and Janet Kemp were both delegates. This year Janet is again going, in company with Rev James Taylor (our Interim Moderator) and Rev Eric Massey as representatives of Gloucestershire.

Worship, Business, Sharing of Reports from Assembly Committees, along with News and Talks about the wider church are all within the programme. This also includes plenty of time for networking and socializing.

Look out for a report in September 'In Touch'
